

“So many wonderful memories... the first sight of the stars struck me to the spot, it was mesmerising; the faces of the little children receiving their gifts and singing for us; the views were spectacular; the effort that went into providing our meals... This experience will be treasured for as long as my memory holds out....I now feel more confident in my own ability to achieve whatever I set my sights on. Arriving at the highest point after a 4:45am wake-up call and knowing every step was worth it. The panorama of snow-capped mountains was stunning – a very emotional moment and a great sense of achievement”

Sharron, Truro